Required Deposit/Financial Information

The total cost of the program is $800. Applicants must submit a $100 deposit with their application. The deposit is refundable if the applicant is not accepted to the program. The deposit is not refundable once the participant is accepted into the program. There is an 'early bird' discount of $100 for all participants whose applications are received by May 31, 2012 ('early bird' total program cost $700). The remaining balance for the program is due no later than July 30, 2012.

The above fees include: tuition, co-operative off-campus accommodation, meals, local transportation, canoe trip, and take-home resources. Participants are responsible for providing their own spending money, health and other insurance, and travel to and from Kingston.

Participants are encouraged to seek financial support from their local, regional or national church. While Future Quest is offered at a significantly subsidized price thanks to a generous grant from the Lilly Endowment Inc., bursaries are available from Queen's School of Religion based upon financial need and distributed on a first applied for basis.

Future Quest can no longer accept credit card payments. A cheque or money order made out to Queen's School of Religion is preferred.

Information included in this application is true to the best of our knowledge:
