Short-Term Loans will not be approved to consolidate credit card debt or other outstanding debts. Short-Term loans will not be approved to pay tuition or debts with another University office (i.e., Residence, Health, Counselling & Disability Services, etc.).

Queen's University Student Loan Funds Regulations Governing Short Term Loans

Authority

The regulations governing Short Term Loans are in accord with decisions taken by the Senate of Queen's University on 27 May 1971.

Eligibility

Full-time students (as defined by Queen's University) enrolled in a degree program in any Faculty may apply for a Short-Term Loan. Students must be in good standing with the University. Applicants must provide evidence satisfactory to the Awards Officer, Loan Programs of their need for the loan and of their ability to repay it when it comes due.

Part-time students are not normally eligible to borrow from the University's student loan funds. However, in cases where there are extenuating circumstances, the Awards Officer, Loan Programs may refer an application from a part-time student to the Loan Committee for special consideration.

Students must have obtained a cumulative GPA of 1.7 in the session at Queen's immediately prior to the application. Only in exceptional circumstances will a loan be granted to a student who has not satisfied the above stated academic expectations. These applications will be referred to the Loan Committee for special consideration.

Short Term Loans cannot be made to applicants who require funds either directly or indirectly for purposes other than meeting those expenses that normally are incurred in support of attendance at the University during the current academic session.

Amount

Since a Short-Term loan is approved on the basis of a temporary cash-flow problem, only expenses incurred during a one-month duration are considered. Therefore the amount of a Short-Term loan should not normally exceed $1,000. Under exceptional circumstances a Short-Term loan may be increased if the cash-flow problem exceeds a one-month period of time.

Term

A maximum of ninety (90) days.

Extensions

Under special circumstances the Associate University Registrar (Student Awards) may grant an extension of up to a maximum 30 days. An application for an extension must be made in writing to the Awards Officer, Loan Programs before the due date of the loan. The request will be submitted to the Loan Committee for consideration.

Security

Short-Term Loans are secured by a Promissory Note.

Cost

Borrowers are subject to a monthly service charges as per Queen's University's Service Charge Rates (updated monthly on the Office of the University Registrar's website) only if the Short-term Loans is not repaid by the agreed upon repayment date. Failure to meet the conditions of this loan may bar the applicant from further loan privileges.

In addition, should this loan remain outstanding past the repayment date, Senate regulations regarding debts to the university come into effect. Senate regulations state the following:

Any student with an overdue debt with the University will not be permitted to register or to receive examination results, official transcripts, or marks reports until the outstanding account is settled in full or until an acceptable arrangement for settling the account is made by the department(s) concerned.

In no case will a diploma be released to a student with an outstanding debt with the University.

Method of Applying

Complete the attached application and return it to the Loan Programs Assistant in the Office of the University Registrar (Student Awards).

Moral Obligation

The University's student loan funds are limited in size and only by the prompt payment of each loan when it comes due is the University able to provide the greatest service to the largest number of students from these funds. Therefore, students accepting loan assistance should recognize the moral as well as the legal obligation to repay the loan when due and to reply promptly to all communications from the Student Awards Office concerning the loan (students should ensure that their QCARD mailing address is current and up-to-date.) Any communication regarding a Short-Term Loan application will be done using a student's Queen's email or mailing address on SOLUS.
