Global Perspective & Experiential Learning

Global mindedness is key to Castle Summer+. During the six-week program, you will apply your classroom learning across southern England in various cultural institutions. In addition to the four-day research trip to London, students have visited places like the Black Cultural Archives in Brixton, Office of the EU Parliament, and the Victoria and Albert Museum in London.

Independent Study

The 594 Independent Study course is designed to immerse you in a unique, graduate-style experience and enhance your global intelligence. Studying overseas, you will build your understanding of cross-cultural similarities and differences while working with an expert in the field, and develop your research through presentation and discussion (594 research projects must be approved by the relevant department in advance). Previous students have taken on research topics like British fashion and youth culture expressed in British cinema of the 60s and 70s for Film and Media Studies, Europe’s “Migrant Crisis” in 2016, pre- and post-Brexit for Global Development, and accuracy in eyewitness accounts for Psychology.
