

Experiential Learning Course Application

CWRI 495: Writing on the Land

Course Description

This experiential learning course immerses creative writers in the natural beauty and ecological abundance of the Rideau Lakes region of Ontario through a senior-level seminar focused on the power and practice of nature writing.

Through direct engagement with the land, colloquium-style discussion and debate, and exposure to scientific, humanist, and Indigenous perspectives on ecological practice, students will develop original works of nature-inspired writing while deepening their physical, imaginative, and emotional connections to the natural world.

This is a full-credit course (3.0 units) running from Tuesday, May 19 to Friday, May 29, 2026, held at the Queen's University Biological Station (Opinion Campus).

Participants are responsible for the cost of their stay (approximately $800), which includes room and board, all meals, and facility use.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the course, students will have:

- Engaged with a wide range of contemporary nature writing
 - Participate in seminar discussions based on assigned readings
 - Produced an original, long-form creative writing piece inspired by the natural world
 - Integrated ecological and land-based awareness into their creative practice
 - Maintained a consistent habit of journaling and reflective writing
 - Reignited a sense of wonder and curiosity about the natural environment
-

Applicant Information

Full Name: _____

Year of Study: _____

Home Department / Program: _____

Email Address: _____

Statement of Interest

Please provide a short written statement (approximately 200 words) explaining your interest in this course and what you hope to gain from participating.

(Attach as a separate document or include below.)

Writing Sample

Please submit one piece of original creative writing (maximum 2 pages).

Financial Acknowledgement

☐ I confirm that I am responsible for the cost of the Queen's University Biological Station stay (approximately $800).

Submission Details

- Number of available spots: 20
- Application deadline: Friday, February 27
- Submission email: creativewriting@queensu.ca