

Upgrading Your Literature Review

Host: Writing Centre

The prospect of starting and eventually completing a literature can be daunting to graduate students, especially for those who have never undertaken one before.

This workshop will help participants understand what their supervisors/readers need to see in the literature review, and how to synthesize sources in order to provide the reader with a clear and coherently organized review.

By the end of this workshop, participants will have a good sense of:

- Purpose: What a literature review needs to do,
- Process: How to begin, work through, and end a literature review, and
- Structure: How to sequence and shape the components of the literature review
