

Mitacs Training – New Curriculum starting October 4th, 2021

Provided via Mitacs learning management system - EDGE and open to graduate students and postdoctoral fellows. All courses currently will be online until further notice.

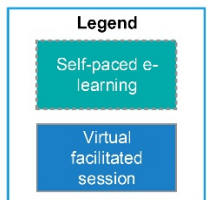

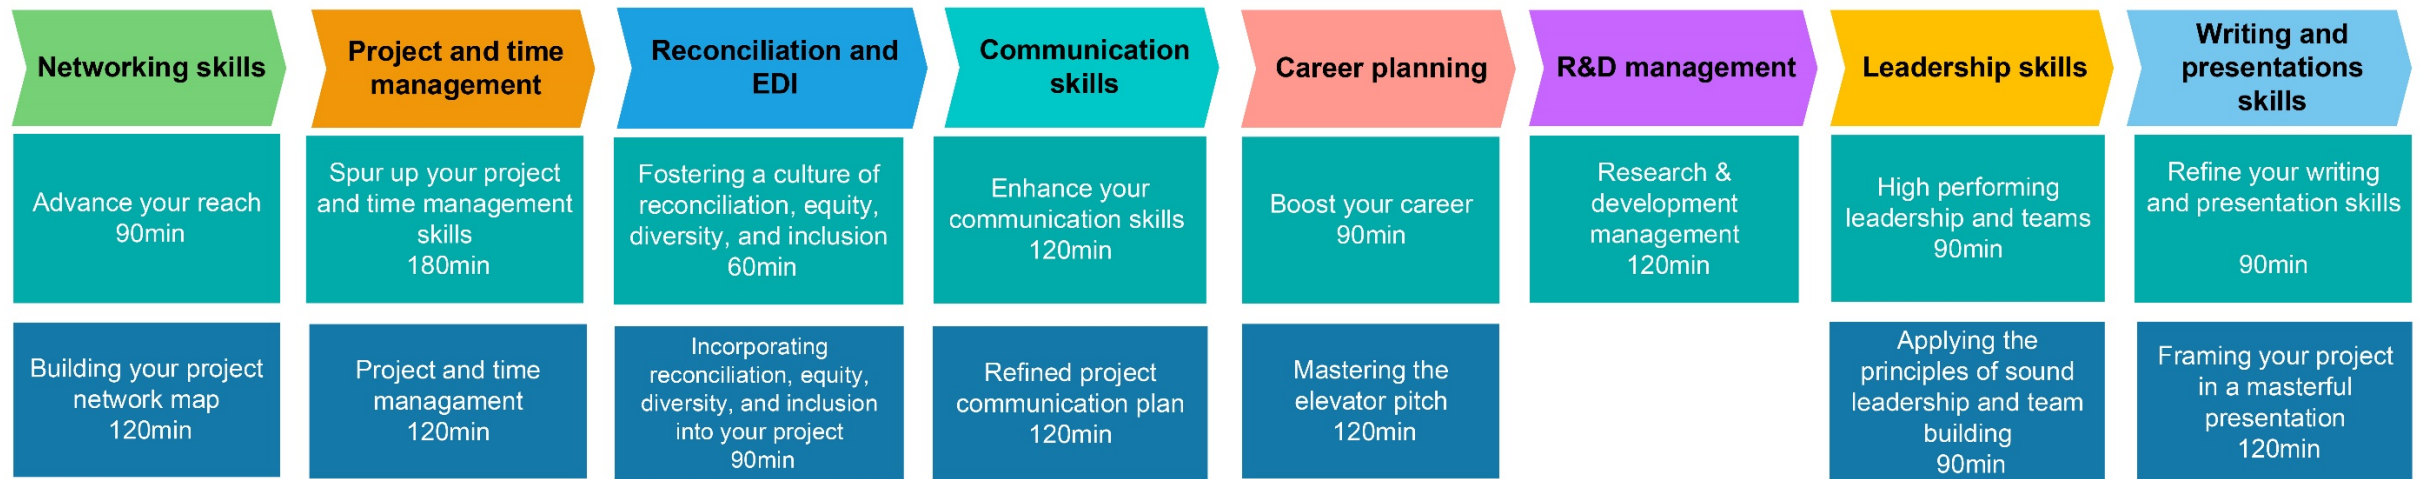

Post pandemic however course offerings will use a hybrid course bundle model where asynchronous requirements must be completed to register for the synchronous portion (1.5-2 hours).

The following courses will be available in October, starting with the asynchronous portion: Networking skills - Communication skills - Project and time management - Reconciliation and EDI.

The following courses will be available in December, starting with the synchronous portion: Career planning, R&D management, Leadership skills and Writing and presentation skills.

New Curriculum

Note: Following completion of one of these bundles, if you want the courses recorded on your Queen’s Professional Development Record, please forward a copy of completion to the School of Graduate Studies Office on email sgsevent@queensu.ca