

Waiver

In accepting this [Teaching Assistantship/Teaching Fellowship/Research Assistantship] position, you acknowledge that in the Winter 2022 term commencing January 1, 2022, you will be in Canada or you would have been in Canada if not for travel/visa restrictions in place as a consequence of the COVID-19 Emergency. You accept all legal and regulatory liabilities arising from performing all such necessary tasks and assignments in your remote location Queen's will only pay any amounts of income to your bank account in Canada. The University will apply Canadian income tax and all other required source deductions and remittances in providing payments related to your [Teaching Assistantship/Teaching Fellowship/Research Assistantship] to you, will provide a Canadian T4 tax slip for calendar year 2022 to you in February 2023, and you will be responsible for filing a tax return in Canada or any other country where you have an obligation to do so for 2022 to report this income. You will also be personally responsible for any taxes owed in Canada or other jurisdictions flowing from this arrangement. Those working temporarily from locations outside of Canada are encouraged to seek tax advice in their jurisdiction of residence.