

TENURED TEACHING POSITION AVAILABLE 2018/19
Department of Film and Media
Queen's University, Kingston, ON CAN K7L 3N6

The Department of Film and Media at Queen's University invites applications from suitably qualified candidates for a position in Cinema Studies at the rank of Associate Professor commencing July 1, 2019. The successful candidate will hold a PhD in Film or a cognate discipline, and will be an outstanding scholar and teacher with an active research project in Cinema Studies and Theory, and at least six years teaching experience. The Department seeks scholars with strong teaching and research profiles.

The successful candidate will have interdisciplinary and transnational links in their research program, a successful history of securing Tri-Council (or comparative) research funding, and demonstrated experience in academic administration. The successful candidate will also have a significant and international publication record, and a track record for collaborative initiatives. The successful candidate's research profile should be strong enough to attract graduate students to the Graduate Program Film and Media, which will be launched in 2019. They must be willing to contribute to departmental and university service.

The successful candidate will be an excellent teacher at all levels of our undergraduate and graduate programs and have demonstrated experience in production-based assignments in film studies courses. The candidate will have significant research expertise and a publication history in at least two of the following areas: transnational environmental film and media; film and media para-materials (artists'/filmmakers' written statements and associated discourse); film and public/counter-public spheres; the interface between the analog and the digital in experimental film and media. Experience in curating film and media programs is an asset.

The Department of Film and Media at Queen's has an outstanding reputation of strong teaching and scholarship, with a 50-year history based in a commitment to the intersection of theory and practice. The Department is housed in the Isabel Bader Centre for the Performing Arts, a state-of-the-art facility with teaching and learning environments including a production studio, film screening theatre, sound recording studio, and a digital lab. The Department of Film and Media has collaborations with Computing (with the Computing and the Creative Arts program) and the Dan School of Music and Drama (with the Stage and Screen program).

The University invites applications from all qualified individuals. Queen's is committed to employment equity and diversity in the workplace and welcomes applications from women, visible minorities, Aboriginal peoples, persons with disabilities, and LGBTQ persons. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, in accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada will be given priority.

To comply with federal laws, the University is obliged to gather statistical information as to how many applicants for each job vacancy are Canadian citizens / permanent residents of Canada. Applicants need not identify their country of origin or citizenship; however, all applications must include one of the following statements: "I am a Canadian citizen / permanent resident of Canada"; OR, "I am not a Canadian citizen / permanent resident of Canada". Applications that do not include this information will be deemed incomplete.

A complete application consists of:

- A cover letter (including one of the two statements regarding Canadian citizenship / permanent resident status specified in the previous paragraph);

- A current Curriculum Vitae (including a list of publications);
- The names and contact information for three (3) referees;
- A research dossier with three (3) writing samples;
- A teaching dossier with at least two outlines for courses previously taught;
- Course evaluations, and any other relevant materials the candidate wishes to submit for consideration.

Please arrange to have applications sent by email only directly to: Professor Gary Kibbins, Department Head at gk6@queensu.ca by October 19, 2018.

The University will provide support in its recruitment processes to applicants with disabilities, including accommodation that takes into account an applicant's accessibility needs. If you require accommodation during the interview process, please contact Professor Gary Kibbins, Department Head of Film and Media at gk6@queensu.ca.
