

Photo credit: Mike Hill

Kingston's Third Crossing Preview

On Saturday, September 24th from 10:00 am to 03:00 pm, the community is invited to walk, ride, or roll across the Third Crossing as part of a one day only preview event before the bridge's official opening at the end of the year. The day will allow the community to view the progress of the Third Crossing project and celebrate active transportation in Kingston, as the bridge will feature a multi-use pathway designed for pedestrians and cyclists.

To learn more about the event, please visit Walk, ride and roll to the Third Crossing preview. Hope to see you there!

AGING PEOPLE, AGING PLACES

On September 26, 2022, Maxwell Hartt, Mark Rosenberg, and colleagues will be holding a virtual book launch and conversation for their Aging People, Aging Places project. They'll be joined by keynote speaker Connie Paul (a contributor to the book and Indigenous elder) as well as other academic and community member contributors to the book. Tune in to discuss the important topic of aging in Canadian and Indigenous communities.

Register to attend:
<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/aging-people-aging-places-book-launch-tickets-417634003547>

Learn more about the project:
<http://www.agingpeopleagingplaces.com>

Science Exposed

The Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada (NSERC) has announced this year's finalists for their Science Exposed contest, which showcases the photographic work of researchers across Canada. Four Queen's students are counted among the 2022 finalists, including Wai Yin Cheung, a PhD student in the Department of Geography and Planning. Wai Yin's photograph, entitled "Deep blue ICE," captures a moment of introspection while working as a glaciological student on Aletsch Glacier, the longest glacier in Europe.

Photo credit: Wai Yin Cheung

To see other finalist images and cast your vote, visit the Science Exposed webpage.

EMPOWERING OTHERS LECTURE SERIES

The Empowering Others Organizing Committee is delighted to introduce Dr. Henry Parada, the first of six speakers for this year's Empowering Others: Carving Spaces in the Academy Lecture Series!

Dr. Parada (MSW, PhD) is currently the Director of the Immigration and Settlement Graduate Program and Professor in the School of Social Work at Toronto Metropolitan University. His current research program is focused on child protection, family violence and children's rights in seven regional areas.

Join us on Zoom Monday, September 26 @ 12 pm (EST) for Dr. Parada's discussion on mentorship and building a research team. Please follow this link to register!

EMPOWERING OTHERS PRESENTS: CARVING SPACES IN THE ACADEMY LECTURE SERIES

MENTORSHIP AND BUILDING A RESEARCH TEAM

DR. HENRY PARADA

School of Social Work,
Toronto Metropolitan University

September 26, 12 PM
(EST)

Register at: empowering-others-lecture-series.eventbrite.ca

Classics Presents...

...Dr. Matthew Sears, Professor of Classics and Ancient History at the University of New Brunswick. Dr. Sears is the lecturer for the Classical Association of Canada Central Lecture Tour this year.

Date and Time: October 3rd, in Watson 517 at 5:30

Title: Walking the Marathon

Abstract: "The road to Marathon, the 42 kilometers between the center of Athens and the site of the battle of 490 BCE against an expedition of the Persian Empire, was the course taken by the first modern marathon race in 1896, and continues as the route of the Athens Classic Marathon each fall. In antiquity, too, the route was revered. Evidence from cult sites to conspicuous funerary monuments suggest that ancient Athenians travelled the road to Marathon as a sort of pilgrimage to remember the battle, pay respects to the fallen, and coopt some of Marathon's legacy for themselves."

This week GPHY 101 heads to Stauffer Library for a Library Tour and Treasure Hunt! The Treasure Hunt, created by the GPHY 101 instructors in collaboration with Geospatial Data Librarian Francine Berish, introduces our first year students to the Library's collections and services, such as SASS. It also engages them with a range of resources, places and people that will assist with their major assignment..

Geography 101 Hits the Books

If you haven't been to Stauffer for a while, did you know the outdoor Terrace off the Fireplace Reading Room is now open? Or that there is a Designated Movement Space on the 4th floor as well as a Meditation Room on the 2nd floor open to all for quiet retreat and reflection? Do visit the beautiful new Staff/Student Learning Centre on the lower level designed in consultation with the Office for Indigenous Initiatives. And if you are in the library this week, come check out the GPHY 101 display across from Information Services.

Thanks in advance to Thelma Maglunob of Mac-Corry Cafeteria for key display items and to the GPHY 101 teaching assistants who are the magic in making it all happen: Elvira Hufschmid, Kim Hill-Tout, Xinyue Li, Madeline Myers, Emily McKnight, and Homa Jalili Safarian.

EQUITY SERVICES EVENTS

Queen's University Muslim Inclusion Network (QUMIN) Fall Social

Consent Awareness Week

Building a campus of consent takes meaningful, intersectional, and affirming conversations and educational opportunities to break down the social norms and indifference that allow sexual violence to continue. This is why Sexual Violence Prevention and Response Services (SVPRS) has teamed up with Units across campus to provide information and supports.

We Believe You Day takes place on September 20th. Learn more about the importance of supporting survivors of sexual violence and #WeBelieveYouDay here:

<https://www.couragetoact.ca/>.

A PANEL DISCUSSION ON

CAMPUS LIFE:SEX, INTIMACY & BELONGING

Date: September 21st, 2022

Time: 7pm - 8:30pm

Location: Ban Righ | Fire Side Lounge

* First Come First Served: Free Pizza ****