

GEELs at the Hilos Conductores Exhibit

Last Saturday, members of the Global Economies and Everyday Lives (GEELs) lab took a fieldtrip to Toronto to visit the Hilos Conductores exhibit, curated by GPPL PhD candidate (and GEELs member) Nathalia Santos Ocasio. The exhibit is being jointly hosted by Agnes Etherington Art Centre (Kingston) and the Sur Gallery (Toronto). You can find out more here: <https://agnes.queensu.ca/exhibition/hilos-conductores/>. Next week's SNID session, on March 16th at 1pm, will be a virtual conversation between Nathalia and one of the exhibit's arpillera contributors, B elgica Castro Fuentes. Congratulations, Nathalia!

March Break Open House

Saturday, March 11 marked the 2023 in-person Queen's University March Break Open House. A special note to the Geography and Planning students and faculty who volunteered their time at Biosciences to help make the event a success: George Bevan, Leah Brown, Chris Omelon (and Juniper!), Cedelle Pereira, Neal Scott, Mary Smida, and Laura Thomson. Thank you, all!

KIM HILL-TOUT IN THE JOURNAL OF INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Congratulations to Kim Hill-Tout, whose co-authored paper with Roberta Hawkins, "Accessorizing development: Fundraising bracelets for international development as a New Development Responsibility," was recently published in the Journal of International Development. Well done, Kim!
<https://doi.org/10.1002/jid.3768>

In the News

Research from one of Carolyn Prouse's labs, Biosecurities and Urban Governance, was recently featured in Science History magazine. Based on a historical investigation funded by the Urban Studies Foundation, lab members discuss the Murky Ethics of Wastewater Surveillance.

<https://www.sciencehistory.org/distillations/the-murky-ethics-of-wastewater-surveillance>

---

David Gordon (Arts and Science, Department of Geography and Planning)

Yahoo! Canada: *Video spreads false claims about Mississauga 15-minute city plan*

Dr. Gordon describes the misinformation around Mississauga's 15-minute city plan as fear-mongering.

Dr. Sina Shahab on the Hidden Costs of Planning Instruments

QGAPS and the Population and Place Research Lab will be hosting a lecture entitled "Who Pays: Uncovering the Hidden Costs of Planning Instruments" by Dr. Sina Shahab (Cardiff University) on March 29th 1:30-2:20pm in MC E230.

Dr. Shahab is a Senior Lecturer at Cardiff University whose research examines the ways in which decision-makers can design effective, efficient, and equitable land, housing, and planning policies. Dr. Shahab has received numerous accolades including a Royal Town Planning Institute Award for Research Excellence (2018) and the Journal of the American Planning Associations Article of the Year Award (2019).

Raising Laying Hens Naturally: Thursday, March 16, 2:30-3:30 pm

Lisa has been raising and tending to a diverse flock of laying hens on Wolfe Island for about 12 years. From topics like housing, health, hatching, broody hens, winter hardy breeds and overall maintenance/workload, she hopes to contribute useful information for those who already have their own flocks as well as those who are thinking about starting their first flock.

Register for this event through the **HR Learning Catalogue**.

SUSTAINABLE
Queen's

Engage | Act | Inspire

Give 30 Campaign 2023

Give 30 was founded in 2012 to bring attention to hunger in our communities and encourage people of all backgrounds to support food banks during the month of Ramadan through GIVE30.org. The initiative now supports 17 major food banks and anti-poverty organizations across Canada, which together serve hundreds of thousands of people.

Contact:

- Mona Rahman, Co-Chair, Give 30 Team Kingston – 613-331-4148; MNRahman@tricolour.queensu.ca
- Michael (AbdurRashid) Taylor, Co-Chair, Give 30 Team Kingston – 416-712-7861; michael@rashidtaylor.com
- Dan Irwin, Executive Director, Partners in Mission Food Bank – 613-544-4534
- Ziyaad Mia, Founder Give 30 – <http://www.give30.ca/contact.html>

KEEP
CALM
AND FIGHT
HUNGER
GIVE30.CA

Accessibility Café: Job Search with a Disability

Make sure you're in the spotlight during your job search—not your disability. Let's chat.

Looking for work is not easy. If you have a disability, you may encounter barriers related to job search, employment, and your disability. Does having a disability affect your job search?

The short answer is that it depends. There are a lot of factors to consider. Are you going to disclose any information regarding your disability? Are there optimal places to look for jobs? Do your job search tools need to be adjusted? Do you need an accommodation? Join the Queen's Human Rights and Equity Office, and the Discover Ability Network for a discussion on disability disclosure.

REGISTER HERE: Eventbrite

Date: Monday, March 20, 2023

Time: 1:00-2:00 p.m.

Where: Teams virtual

Please contact Andrew Ashby at ashby@queensu.ca for inquiries or if you require an accommodation.

This session will have ASL and closed captions.