CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to the SURP International Experience Award Winners for 2019:

Hayley Nabuurs for travel to Chester, England
Jennifer Sutton for travel to Freetown, Sierra Leone
Kyla Tanner for travel to Vienna, Austria

A big thank you to the International Experience Award Panel Members for reviewing and rating the applications received.

THE CONVERSATION CANADA – WORKSHOP INVITE

February 14, 2019: Queen's researchers are invited to attend one of two workshops with Scott White, Editor-in-Chief of The Conversation Canada.

The effective international news platform has helped over 22,000 researchers worldwide mobilize their research to millions of readers seeking evidence-based, informed news on issues of importance. Since becoming a founding member of The Conversation Canada in late 2017, 86 Queen's researchers have contributed 118 articles resulting in over 1.5 million reads.

The workshops will demonstrate how Queen's faculty and students can leverage this platform to promote their research and contribute to dialogue on issues of international importance. There will also be an opportunity to learn how to develop and test potential article pitches (bring some ideas!), and for previous authors to share their experiences writing for the platform. Please register via Eventbrite. For more information on the workshop, please contact Kayla Dettinger, Research Promotion Coordinator.
