IN THE NEWS

Robert Way (Arts and Science, Department of Geography and Planning). CBC Online: Labrador is changing and some archeological sites are at risk of disappearing. Dr. Way says the changes in landscapes are not as dramatic in his home province as they are in the Northwest Territories or northern Yukon, but it does pose a significant risk.

Susan Bazely (Arts and Science, Department of Geography and Planning). Kingston Whig-Standard: Uncovering our past. Susan Bazely spoke to the Whig-Standard about an archaeological project working to record grave markers at St. Paul's Anglican Church's Lower Burial Ground, in Kingston.

IT'S CONFERENCE SEASON!

On Monday June 24, members of the Renewable Energy Development and Implementation (REDI) lab travelled to the 10th Annual International Sustainability Transitions Conference held at Carleton University in Ottawa. The group presented a Dialogue Session entitled "Addressing challenges in Canada's transition to a lower carbon emission economy." The session, lead by Dr. Warren Mabee, provided an overview of the work currently being conducted in the lab by PhD candidates Jordan Carlson, Jean Blair and Carolyn DeLoyde. Jordan's portion of the session focused on green energy across Canada while Jean discussed approaches to district heating and cooling using a case study approach. Carolyn spoke about the need to integrate energy planning into the land use planning process through Community Energy Planning within the municipal sector.

WORK STUDY PROGRAM 2019-2020

The Work Study program is offered jointly through Career Services and the Student Awards office and is funded by Queen’s University. This experiential learning program provides opportunities for students in financial need to receive priority for certain part-time jobs (generally on-campus) during their academic terms.

The Work Study program includes a required experiential learning component: a one-page reflection form to guide a short discussion with your student at the beginning and end of the work term.

The form will be included with your welcome email once you have hired a student. This short reflection exercise has proven to deepen the learning experience for the student and increase student engagement, benefitting you.

The Work Study subsidy applies to students who have received an entitlement by Student Awards.

If students work more hours than their entitlements allow, it is the employer’s responsibility to pay the full cost of that portion of the salary and benefits that exceeds the employees’ entitlements. The Work Study Program pays 75% of the employee’s hourly wage ($14.60/hour including vacation pay), up to their entitlement. As the employer, you are expected to pay 25% or $3.65 an hour, plus all employer paid premiums.

Full details (including entitlement samples) can be found on the Work Study webpage: http://careers.queensu.ca/faculty-staff/hire-student/work-study

If you have an id and password and are ready to post a job go to: https://careers.sso.queensu.ca/home.htm

If you would like to set up an id and password please go to: https://careers.sso.queensu.ca/employers/registration.htm and hit the request account link.

Prepare your Work Study contract. Download contract and find instructions as well as information about the program at: http://careers.queensu.ca/faculty-staff/hire-student/work-study / Work Study Contracts
