

TEACHING FELLOW POSITIONS DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY – QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY

Posting Date: January 8, 2021

Closing Date for applications: February 2nd, 2021

The Department of History invites applications for Teaching Fellowship positions for Spring/Summer 2021 and Fall/Winter 2021-2022. The process of appointing qualified teaching fellows to these positions is outlined in the Collective Agreement between PSAC 901 and Queen's University. A full year-long teaching fellowship is equivalent to 1.0 workload credits.

The department will review applications and appoint Teaching Fellows in reference to candidates' teaching and academic experience as it applies to the course subject field; to the candidates' priority for a Teaching Fellowship as specified by the Collective Agreement; and to candidates' financial support packages. All positions are subject to availability of funding and number of enrollments in the course. Doctoral students presently in Year 2 of their PhD program are strongly encouraged to apply; typically, such students are assigned a single section of one of the department's first-year courses. All doctoral students presently in Year 3 and beyond of their PhD program and who seek internal financial support of any kind in 2021-2022 must apply for a teaching fellowship. If you are at all unsure of your program or funding status in 2021-2022, please contact the Graduate Office. Graduate students in Preference Group A as defined by the Collective Agreement will have priority for teaching fellow positions. Applicants in other preference pools will be considered if positions are still available.

Applicants should submit an application to the Department of History by accessing the link found below no later than February 2nd, 2021. Applicants should also arrange for their referee to email a brief note in regards to their application to history.chair@queensu.ca by February 2nd, 2021. Questions about the ad or courses should be directed to the Department of History Chair, Prof. Rebecca Manley at history.chair@queensu.ca.

Complete applications will consist of accessing the following link and providing the information listed below:

<https://forms.office.com/Pages/ResponsePage.aspx?id=O8se1rE41UKCxO-yg4uSXlbTmYxqgPIGu12xhmFBwqtUMjAyNVJUOVJHQTZBWEpDRzMyMEc2MlFLNC4u>

As part of the application process, you will be asked to:

- 1) rank the first-year courses in order of preference
- 2) list, in order of priority, the courses that you are most interested in teaching next year
- 3) provide a draft course title and description if you wish to propose a 'Topics in History' course (either a one or two term course). Note that only a very limited number of proposals for one or two term "Topics in History" courses may be considered and the title, description, and number of terms of any that may be selected will be finalized in consultation with the Department.
- 4) Upload an up-to-date curriculum vitae and latest transcript (unofficial transcript is acceptable)
- 5) Prepare and upload a one-page statement that briefly describes your teaching experience, interests, and approach and any relevant experience in on-line teaching
- 6) Identify the name and e-mail address of one referee (ask the referee to send a note to history.chair@queensu.ca regarding your application)

- 7) Applicants to the BISC courses will also need to submit additional materials (see the ad for details)

For more information on specific courses, consult the Arts and Science calendar under Courses of Instruction:

Courses

This list of courses is tentative. The department will not be able to offer all of them and so please list in priority order all those you wish to express a preference for and consider yourself well-qualified to teach. The term in which one-term courses will be taught has not yet been determined (with the exception of the ASO online courses). Note that we may be able to offer one or two seminars next summer (May – June). You will have an opportunity to signal a preference of this term in the application. Finally, please note that single or multiple sections of first-year courses may be assigned, with two sections equivalent to a 0.5 teaching fellowship. A single section of a first-year course may also be assigned with a one-term senior seminar for the equivalent of a 1.0 appointment.
