

The Department of Political Studies presents

GENDER, PSYCHOLOGICAL ORIENTATIONS TO POLITICS, AND DEMOCRATIC CITIZENSHIP

Melanee Thomas

*Skelton-Clark Post-Doctoral Fellow
Department of Political Studies
Queen's University*

Wednesday, March 7, 2012
2:30 – 4:00 pm
Mackintosh-Corry, Rm. B-313

Biography:

Melanee Thomas is the Skelton-Clark Post-Doctoral Fellow in the Department of Political Studies at Queen's University. Prior to her time at Queen's, Thomas studied at the Centre for the Study of Democratic Citizenship in the Department of Political Science at McGill University. Thomas's research and teaching interests revolve around the causes and consequences of gender-based political inequality in Canada and other post-industrial democracies, with a particular focus on political attitudes and behaviour, and policy feedback. Her work appears in Politics & Gender, and the Canadian Journal of Political Science.