Mackintosh-Corry Hall, Rm. B-313

David J. Hornsby is a Senior Lecturer in the Department of International Relations and the Assistant Dean of Humanities, Teaching and Learning at the University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg. He has worked at all levels of Canadian governance, including for a federal cabinet minister, prior to relocating to South Africa. He completed his PhD in the Department of Politics and International Studies at the University of Cambridge in 2010. Dr. Hornsby's research focuses on a number of different themes in International Relations (e.g., Africa's international relations; IR pedagogy) and International Political Economy (e.g., trade conflicts; economic aspects of Canadian foreign policy in Africa). His latest book is Risk Regulation, Science, and Interests in Transatlantic Trade Conflicts (Palgrave Macmillan, 2013). Dr. Hornsby is the program co-chair for the Science, Technology and Arts in International Relations section of the International Studies Association (ISA), and he was recently elected to the 2017-2018 ISA Governing Council as an At-Large Representative.
