

TERM ADJUNCT TEACHING POSITION AVAILABLE – Summer 2022
PSYC 100 – Principles of Psychology – ONLINE OFFERING
Department of Psychology
Queen’s University, Kingston, ON CAN K7L 3N6

The Department of Psychology at Queen’s University invites applications from suitably qualified candidates interested in teaching Principles of Psychology (PSYC 100/6.0). This course is a 6.0 unit course, and we are accepting applications from those wishing to teach the full 6.0 units and from those who wish to co-teach at 3.0 units. This is an online introductory course with an expected enrolment of 300 students. This is a summer term appointment for the period of May 1, 2022 – August 31, 2022, with the course in session from May 9th to July 29th and with an exam period from August 2nd - 10th, 2022. The course commitment extends to August to compile and post final grades, and handle any grade appeals.

Successful candidates should have a M.A., M.Sc. or a Ph.D and teaching experience at the University level, in Psychology, including experience working within an Online Learning Management platform (such as OnQ).

As this course is being offered online, successful candidates will also:

- have regular access to high speed internet and a computer that meets current specifications
- be willing to take an active role in delivering the course and communicating regularly with students
- be open to learning how to use the new technologies in order to be effective in the virtual environment
- be flexible in terms of availability during online office hours
- be willing to provide students with timely and constructive feedback on OnQ
- be comfortable with working in a partnership with Arts and Science Online in the delivery of the course.

Online materials are already developed, so teaching duties would primarily consist of designing and overseeing student-student and student-faculty interaction via online tutorials, brief weekly “vodcasts,” online activities, and/or asynchronous discussion forums. Supporting and training TAs (teaching assistants) in the delivery of weekly activities is a large component of this course. This is a structured course that runs under the supervision of the PSYC100 Faculty Coordinator. Support from the Department of Psychology and Arts and Science Online will be provided to assist in the development and management of such course activities.

The University invites applications from all qualified individuals. Queen’s is strongly committed to employment equity, diversity and inclusion in the workplace and encourages applications from Black, racialized/visible minority and Indigenous/Aboriginal people, women, persons with disabilities, and 2SLGBTQ+ persons. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, in accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada will be given priority.

The University will provide support in its recruitment processes to applicants with disabilities, including accommodation that takes into account an applicant's accessibility needs. If you require accommodation during this process, please contact: Sarah Indewey, psycmgr@queensu.ca, 613-533-6406.

The academic staff at Queen's University are governed by the Collective Agreement between the Queen's University Faculty Association (QUFA) and the University, which is posted at <http://www.queensu.ca/facultyrelations/faculty-librarians-and-archivists/queens-qufa-collective-agreement>

Applications should include a complete and current curriculum vitae, letters of reference from two (2) referees, and any other relevant materials the candidate wishes to submit for consideration such as a letter of intent, teaching dossier, etc. Please arrange to have applications and supporting letters sent directly to:

Dr. Kate Harkness,
Department Head, Department of Psychology
Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario
Canada K7L 3N6
psyc.jobs@queensu.ca

Review of completed applications will begin after April 1, 2022, and continue until the position is filled. The final appointment is subject to budgetary approval. Additional information about the Department of Psychology can be found at <https://www.queensu.ca/psychology/>

Course Description:

PSYC 100/6.0 Principles of Psychology

An Introductory survey of basic areas of psychology including perception, cognition, learning and motivation and their biological substrata. Also reviewed are child development, individual differences, social psychology and abnormal psychology.