SECTION B – Your Research Interest Statement

The Undergraduate Summer Research Awards are allocated on a combination of academic Excellence (as gauged by student GPA) and on research aptitude (as gauged by research motivation, understanding of the research potential that the award would generate, and past experience) indicated in the Research Interest Statement.

The selection committee is not concerned with the specifics of the research area or topic that you wish to pursue, but is very interested in your original perspectives on research in general, and the potential benefits of this award to you. Please answer each of the following three questions in your statement:

1) Why are you interested in this particular research area?

2) What research and analytic skills do you expect to develop as a result of this immersive research experience? How will this experience contribute to your professional development?

3) Have you had research experience previously? Why or why not? (Note: Our goal is to provide students with equitable access to research experiences—previous research is not required to win this award)

Note that your statement should be concise and is limited to a maximum of one side of a free-form page document (word or pdf). 12 size font double spaced.

NSERC Undergraduate Summer Research Awards - Selection Criteria for Queen's Psychology Department

1. Eligibility: The NSERC USRA is a competitive award. Students registered in a 4-year Honours degree program in Queen's PSYC, and who are in 2nd, 3rd or 4th year and have a minimum cumulative GPA of 4.0 (A) will be given priority. First year students are not eligible, and students with cumulative GPA <3.70 are not likely to be competitive for consideration.
2. Ranking of applicants will be based on three main criteria: (1) PSYC GPA for all completed PSYC courses, (2) student research interest statement, (3) cumulative GPA and the supplemental factors described below.
3. Supplemental factors: The Awards committee aims to distribute the available awards over all years of study (2,3,4). The Awards Committee will favour a first-time applicant over a returning applicant that has been awarded an NSERC USRA already, if all else is equal in the interest of sharing the limited number of awards among promising students.

NOTES:

The work conducted under an NSERC USRA project is not to overlap work with work in PSYC501, 570/575, or SWEP research projects (research projects carried out under the Queen's Summer Work Experience Program). This is so that dual credit is not assigned for the same work.

NSERC expects universities to endeavor to ensure a minimum 50% participation rate by female students and Queen's University and Queen's Psychology are committed to equity and diversity in all programs and activities and welcomes applications from women, visible minorities, BIPOC, Aboriginal peoples, persons with disabilities, and LGBTQ persons.

In addition to NSERC's commitment to inclusion, the Psychology Department encourages applications from all qualified individuals. The Department is committed to diversity, and welcomes applications from women, visible minorities, Aboriginal Peoples, persons with disabilities, and persons of any sexual orientation or gender identity.

Students who are nominated by the PSYC Awards Committee for an award will then complete the NSERC Undergraduate Summer Research Award application form, Part 2. The UG Assistant is available for support with these forms, if needed.
