GLOBAL UNDERGRADUATE AWARDS – deadline extended!

UA is the world’s leading undergraduate academic awards programme which recognizes outstanding undergraduate work and shares it with a global audience. Last year UA received over 3,400 submissions from undergraduates in over 300 institutions from 50 countries. 3rd and 4th year undergraduate students are invited to submit their highly-graded papers.

Given the continued worldwide disruption to teaching and learning, we have extended the submission deadline for the 2020 Programme to allow as many undergraduate students to submit their coursework for consideration.

The new deadline will be 16 June 2020, 12:00 p.m. IST (Irish Standard Time).

STEM FELLOWSHIP – CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

STEM Fellowship, a Canadian registered charity that equips students with skills in data analytics and scientific communication through mentorship and experiential learning programs, is currently looking to recruit members to run and handle the STEMFellowship Youtube Channel and two Design Team Content Creators. Such a position is highly valuable in helping strengthen students’ content creation skills as well as providing experience working in a collaborative setting with a NGO.

The Social Media YouTube Manager is responsible for spending at least 1 hour per week being active in the YouTube community. They subscribe to channels that offer similar content as SF and leave comments under those videos to attract our target audience. They also organize the playlist of videos uploaded by SF, form names for playlists and re-write video descriptions to engage a wider diversity of audiences. Design Team Video Content Creators create video content and also act in some videos; therefore, acting experience is an asset for this position. They are also responsible for getting video content reviewed by the design team lead and the marketing strategist team to ensure the content aligns with our specific marketing goals. Furthermore, they collaborate with other Design Team Video Content Creators to discuss future video ideas.

Leading our SF Youtube team can enable students to develop essential skills in leadership, project management, problem-solving, communication and data analytics, while building connections with student leaders and academia and industry experts.
