Are you thinking of applying to Graduate Studies in Psychology?

You are invited to join us online for the:

Queen’s Psychology Fall Virtual Open House

Saturday, Nov. 7 2020, 10:30 a.m. to 12 p.m., Kingston time (EST)

Join current Queen’s Psychology graduate students and faculty members online to:
• learn more about our various graduate programs;
• hear about examples of innovative research being conducted by current graduate students;
• meet with potential graduate supervisors;
• talk to future peers.

We look forward to meeting you during our virtual Open House to discuss what Queen’s Psychology has to offer you!

RSVP to: psycgrad@queensu.ca and indicate your Program of Interest and preferred supervisor (i.e., Clinical, Cognitive-Neuroscience, Developmental, or Social-Personality).

When you RSVP we will send you more detailed information and a Zoom link to the event.
Thinking perhaps of doing a graduate degree?
Then Queen’s School of Graduate Studies would like to invite you to peruse the many graduate programs we have to offer!

Take this opportunity to listen to presentations, ask questions, watch videos and chat with faculty, staff and current graduate students.

WHEN: WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28TH 2020

Time: 11am-3pm EST (8am - 12noon Pacific Time, 12noon - 4pm Atlantic Time)

Registration Is Open: Use THIS LINK:

Note: When registering, you have the option of registering for a specific faculty (perhaps your main interest) or general. Regardless of which ticket you check, you will have access to all graduate programs within each Faculty and the School of Graduate Studies.

TEACHING AWARDS
Nominate a Professor or TA!

We are currently accepting TA and Professor nominations from students for the W.J. Barnes Award and the Teaching Excellence Award. This is a chance to recognize and honour the exceptional contributors to the academic life here at Queen's that shape student experience in the Faculty of Arts and Science.

The nomination forms can be found below:

For the WJ Barnes Award (for Professors), see HERE
For the Teaching Excellence Award (for TAs): see HERE

Students are encouraged to nominate teaching staff who have enhanced their learning experience during this unconventional remote semester.
TRI-AWARDS

NOMINATION FORM NOW OPEN!

It's that time of year again! The nomination form for our annual Tri-awards is officially open. Each year, the Human Rights and Equity Office acknowledges the efforts and progress of faculty, staff and students who create a positive impact on the University community in the areas of Human Rights, Employment Equity and Accessibility. Any member of the Queen's community including students, staff, faculty or alumni as well as members of the general Kingston community who have an interest in Queen's University may submit nominations.

We know great things are happening at Queen's and here is your chance to have an individual, group or initiative recognized for their outstanding contributions to the University.

Please follow the link below to submit a nomination, learn more about the awards and to see our past winners:
https://www.queensu.ca/hreo/tri-awards

Deadline to nominate is January 11, 2021.

The UA 2021 Programme is now accepting submissions!

We are delighted to announce that The Global Undergraduate Awards 2021 Programme is now open and we are accepting submissions to our 25 categories.

We are inviting undergraduate students or recent graduates from Queen's University to submit up to three pieces of undergraduate coursework to The Global Undergraduate Awards 2021 Programme.

The UA Programme is a great opportunity for:

- Students to have their work recognised internationally and to win a free ticket to present their research at our Global Summit in Dublin, Ireland.
- It is also a great opportunity for Queen's University to demonstrate the quality of its education
The Pathy Foundation Fellowship

Now accepting applications for the 2021-22 cohort!

The Pathy Foundation Fellowship is an exciting opportunity for graduating students from Queen’s (one of only five universities in Canada eligible) to engage in an intensive 12-month leadership program designed to support them in implementing a community development project anywhere in the world. Successful candidates will receive up to $40,000 in funding and receive formal training in Community Change at the Coady International Institute.

The 12-month fellowship is for graduating undergraduate and masters students who have:

- The capacity and potential to develop as effective change-agents;
- A meaningful connection with a community of their choosing anywhere in the world; and
- An innovative idea of how this community could be strengthened.

Please visit www.pathyfellowship.com for more information and see our flyer below. We also provide 1-1 student advising; appointment requests can be sent to pathyfellowship@queensu.ca

The deadline for applications is NOVEMBER 12, 2020
You want to explore entrepreneurship or social innovation as a career path, and the Dunin-Deshpande Queen’s Innovation Centre (DDQIC) wants to help. Every year, DDQIC selects around 50 ambitious candidates to be a part of the Queen’s Innovation Centre Summer Initiative (QICSI) program. QICSI is for pre-formed teams and individuals with a capacity for creativity, a tolerance for risk, and a desire to build a venture that creates an impact.

Do you have an innovative solution to a global mental health challenge? We want to support you. The PsychSolutions Competition highlights innovative, science-based initiatives aiming to address the burden of suffering caused by mental health challenges around the world. For example, submissions could highlight interventions to decrease mental health stigma or evaluate or scale up a novel approach to mental health service delivery. The selected winner is to be awarded $10,000 USD and the opportunity to work with APA to create a promotional video highlighting their global health initiative. APA’s Office of International Affairs (OIA) invites you to submit a project proposal of your initiative with emphasis on impact and innovation. Current members and affiliates of APA and national psychological associations with which APA has a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) will be eligible to participate in this competition as individuals or in small groups.

This October, we are pleased to invite you to Black Students’ Wellness Month (BSWM), a series of events that aim to increase and support the wellbeing of Black students in the National Capital Region.

As part of our Public Health Agency of Canada funded project on The Mental Health for Black Youth, we are launching BSWM in the context of our two campaigns:

1. The ‘Knowing to Prevent’ campaign which aims to educate, raise awareness, de-stigmatize and mobilize Black communities on mental health.

2. The ‘Chatting in the City’ campaign, which aims to build the capacity of Black communities to support the resilience of youth who have already faced or are facing mental health issues.

Throughout the entire month of October, we will be hosting many exciting events for Black students, including: (1) our opening event: a dialogue on facilitating Black students’ success between Dr. Myrna Lashley and Dr. Cécile Rousseau from McGill University, (2) Conferences led by Black scholars on academic success, leadership, and applying for scholarships, (3) weekly mindfulness meditation sessions with Fimo Mitchell, (4) Mindfulness training for mental health professionals, (5) Weekly bilingual open mental health discussion groups (e.g., Black Students’ Mensroom, Black Students’ Womensroom), (6) Counselling services for Black students offered throughout the month by various community organizations, universities and colleges in Ottawa and Gatineau.

COVID-19 Study
Seeking Participants

Our online study aims to look at the impact of COVID-19 infection on memory and cognition in the short and medium-term. The study will recruit participants who have/have not experienced COVID infection and conduct assessments of memory and executive functions to compare these groups, explore the significance of given symptoms for potential cognitive consequences, carry out follow-up assessments to investigate the time-course of potential impairment in those who have experienced infection, carry out follow-up assessments investigating both pre- and post-infection performance (in participants who develop COVID between follow-ups).

For more information and to sign up, click HERE

COVID-19 May have long-lasting effects on memory and cognition

Help us understand by taking part in our ONLINE study

We are looking for people who HAVE and HAVE NOT had COVID-19. We will then ask to follow some people up to see how their experience changes over time.
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
GRADUATE PROGRAM OPEN HOUSE

We would like to invite you to join us at a University of Toronto Psychology Graduate Program virtual open house!

Friday, October 30 at 1pm EST!

To register and receive the Zoom link, please use the QR code in the brochure below, or visit https://tinyurl.com/yy89ehup.

Changes are coming to the University of Toronto Psychology Graduate Program!

Beginning in 2021, students entering with a BA or BSc will be considered for admission to our new 5-year, direct entry PhD program. Students entering with a MA or MSc will be considered for admission to our 4-year PhD program.

https://tinyurl.com/yy89ehup

Our new 5-year direct entry PhD Program features:

- A 2-year Foundational Research Project to build the skills you’ll need for your PhD project
- A 1-year Outside Research Project to work with another faculty member and expand your skills and knowledge
- Psychological science skills modules: half-term courses that focus on skills to further your research capacity (e.g., programming, advanced statistics, laboratory techniques). Students in the 4-year PhD can also take these modules.

UoT Psychology students can be supervised by faculty at any one of our three main campuses (St. George, Mississauga, or Scarborough), or at one of our many affiliated institutions.

We offer training in:

- Behavioural Neuroscience
- Developmental Psychology
- Perception, Cognition, and Cognitive Neuroscience
- Social and Personality Psychology

“The PhD program has given me connections with some of the best scientific minds in the world. I highly value the encouragement to work on projects outside my main focus.”

- Christine Johnson, PhD, DPhil, University of Toronto

“I value the level of high caliber research that members of the department conduct. I also appreciate that the outside project fosters collaborations with other faculty members early on in the program.”

- LGBTQ+ Psychology Program

“Over the course of my PhD, I have admired the Psychology department’s willingness to meet the needs of its graduate students. The department offers a variety of resources to prepare its students for a career path in psychology.”

- Lisa Chang, PhD, University of Toronto

“UoT, and UTSC especially, has generous support for psychology graduate students in the form of travel and external awards every year, which has allowed me to attend international conferences and career development opportunities regularly throughout my degree.”

- Istanbul Ateş, PhD, University of Toronto

“The collaborative environment created by the BSc and UoT Psychology program has provided a diverse range of research opportunities and continues to support my academic and professional development.”

- Ellen Adland, BSc, UTSC
