Dear students – we hope you are enjoying a well earned break!

Today’s newsletter is small and includes an invite to join the PSYC EDI support committee. There are also some QUIP postings you might find interesting.

Important Dates

- Friday, May 14: Last day to add and drop a Summer Term class (May-June/6W)
- May 17 - 28: Arts & Sciences Plan Selection and Upper Year Change of Plan window
- Friday, May 21: Last day to drop a Summer Term class (May-July/12W)
- Monday, May 24: Victoria Day

Calls for the PSYC EDI support committee

Join the Psychology Department’s Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Support Committee (EDI-SC)

We are looking for interested undergraduates, graduate students, postdocs, faculty, and staff to join the EDI support committee (EDI-SC).

This is a great opportunity to assist with the EDI activities undertaken by our department’s EDI committee. The work of the SC is integral to EDI, and we hope it will provide a diverse array of opportunities for departmental members to work on EDI committee initiatives, give feedback and share concerns, and assist the EDI committee with the implementation of tasks to work towards continued positive change within the department. We also hope it will help build community towards making change.

What should you expect, if you are interested in volunteering your time? We will ask you about your interests, and then we will record your name, email, position, and interests in an excel spreadsheet. Members of the EDI committee will either contact you directly or the whole group when looking for help with a specific EDI initiative. For example, if you have interest and/or expertise in teaching and/or racism, we might ask you to help us find syllabi from courses outside our university that are relevant to a course like Psychology of Racism. Or, we might ask the whole EDI-SC to rank order a set of actions to help us prioritize. When the EDI Committee emails you, we would include an estimated timeline and/or deadline. If you email us directly, you could accept or decline if you were too busy or the topic wasn’t up your alley. If we email the group, you would just respond if you were interested and otherwise, ignore!
If you are interested and want to help create a more diverse and just environment in our department, then we would like to hear from you! To apply, please send a brief email to Suzanne DeSousa, our EDI staff support member, at psycoffice@queensu.ca with the following:

- Your name and email address;
- A brief note outlining why you want to join the EDI-SC and what you hope to achieve as a member of the committee (1-4 sentences is fine!);
- Any skills or interests that we should know about (e.g., you love lit searches; you have a passion for teaching; you are a member of and/or involved in specific equity-seeking groups, etc.).

QUIP Postings

Several postings for QUIP this week!

1. Are you passionate about experiential learning? Interested in enhancing the number of experiential opportunities available to students? The Faculty of Arts and Science may have the internship for you. As an Experiential Learning Coordinator, you could hone your communication and interpersonal skills to implement partner-related initiatives, manage relationships with internal and external stakeholders, and coordinate the review and development of events. In this role, you will also work on a new project called Social Impact Problem Bank. Please note the deadline for applying for this position is May 12! Role starts May 2021. Visit the QUIP Website for information on how to apply.

2. Career Services is looking to hire a Projects Intern registered in the Queen’s Undergraduate Internship Program for June 2021! In this role, the intern will support strategic employer relations projects and the development of Career Services initiatives by working with partners across campus. The position offers excellent opportunities for learning about a variety of departmental projects and honing analytical writing skills on a variety of topics and issues related to Career Services. This intern will develop project and time management skills and will build confidence for interacting with a wide range of colleagues. Closing Date: May 16, 2021 @ 11:59 pm (EST). Visit the QUIP Website for information on how to apply.

3. The Faculty of Health Sciences is looking to hire a Communications Intern registered in the Queen’s Undergraduate Internship Program for September 2021! This hands-on role will allow you to explore and gain the experience you need for a career in communications, public relations and/or marketing. The Faculty of Health Sciences is looking for a strong writer who is enthusiastic, works hard and is open to learning new skills like graphic design, photography, video editing and social media in order to tell the stories of the Faculty of Health Sciences and its three schools: Nursing, Medicine and Rehabilitation Therapy. Closing Date: May 31, 2021 @ 11:59 pm (EST). Visit the QUIP Website for information on how to apply.

---

Book your academic advising appointment here

For questions on careers/grad school, please email ug.psyc@queensu.ca to set up a meeting with Dr Norris.