To interested researchers in the Canadian community:

As we are about to embark on an academic year like no other, we at Anxiety Canada (AC) would like to make you aware of an avenue to advertise for potential research participants. Anxiety Canada is a non-profit established in 1999 and is dedicated to providing empirically-supported behavioural health information and resources for consumers and families who struggle with problematic anxiety. AC receives over 2 million visits annually from Canadians as well as citizens from many other countries worldwide.

We launched a research page on our website earlier this calendar year. It is meant to be a place where consumers wishing to participate in studies and researchers can connect. Members of our Scientific Advisory Committee created guidelines and a streamlined application which are available on the research page. There is a nominal fee for the posting of studies that meet AC’s criteria but we anticipate it will not be a barrier.

If you have any questions, please don’t hesitate to send us an email to info@anxietycanada.com.

Wishing you good health and favourable statistical results,

Maureen L. Whittal, PhD
