

International Symposium Series on Reflective Practice for Legal Professionals

Barbra Bailey
Manager, Policy & Education

Rule 67.1

Continuing Professional Development

67.1 (1) “Continuing professional development” is any learning activity that is:

- a) relevant to the professional needs of a lawyer;
- b) pertinent to long-term career interests as a lawyer;
- c) in the interests of the employer of a lawyer or
- d) related to the professional ethics and responsibilities of lawyers.

(2) Continuing professional development must contain significant substantive, technical, practical or intellectual content.

(3) It is each lawyer’s responsibility to determine whether a learning activity meets these criteria and therefore qualifies as continuing professional development.

Professional Development Profile
for Alberta Lawyers

LAW SOCIETY
of ALBERTA

Professional Development Profile

<https://www.lawsociety.ab.ca/lawyers-and-students/continuing-professional-development/professional-development-profile/>

LAW SOCIETY
of ALBERTA

Reflective Practice

Home

Opening a New Law Firm

Law Practice Essentials

Law Business Essentials

Well-Being in the Legal Profession

Reflective Practice

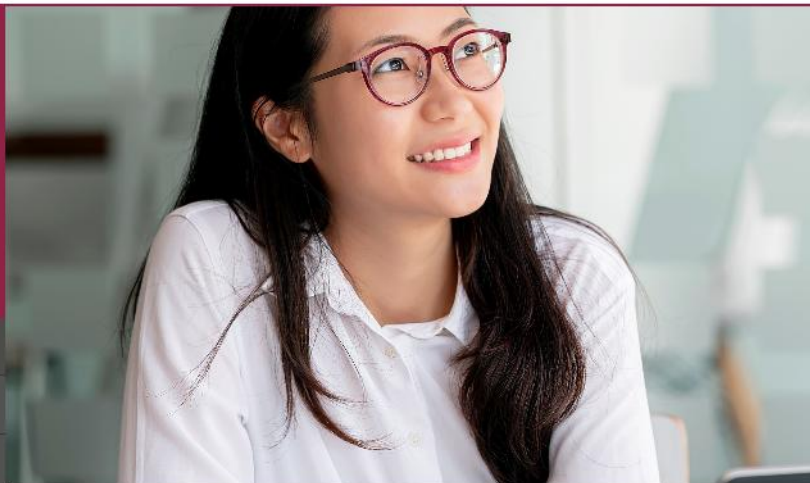

Introduction

What is Reflective Practice?

Why Does Reflective Practice Matter?

How Do I Apply Reflective Practice?

About the Course

Learning Centre > Reflective Practice

MODULE
1

Introduction

MODULE
2

What is Reflective Practice?

MODULE
3

Why Does Reflective Practice Matter?

<https://learningcentre.lawsociety.ab.ca/course/view.php?id=5>

Thank you

