

SENATE

Richardson Hall, Room 153
Queen's University
Kingston, Ontario, Canada K7L 3N6
Tel 613 533-6095
Fax 613 533-2793
www.queensu.ca/secretariat/

27 April 2009

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to inform you that the Senate Committee on Academic Procedures (SCAP) discussed a proposal to change the date of Reading Week 2010 at its April 20, 2009 meeting and that the following motion was approved:

Be it resolved that Reading Week in 2010 remain as previously scheduled, from February 22 to 26.

Although there was some support within Faculties and Schools for the change, to avoid the loss of a full day in the academic session, Monday, February 15, 2010 (Family Day), it was concluded that the change would create considerable disruption to many students and faculty members who had already made academic and personal plans based on the published dates.

SCAP will endeavor to be aware of years in the future in which Family Day does not fall in the seventh week of term and will take it into account well in advance to inform the planning of sessional dates.

I would appreciate it if SCAP's decision could be circulated widely within your Faculty/School.

Yours sincerely,

Charles Beach

Copy:

Deans/Directors
Faculty Board secretaries
Faculty/School offices
Office of the University Registrar
Senate