

Did You know that Four Directions Aboriginal Student Centre...

Did you know that Four Directions Aboriginal Centre (FDASC) strives to be a home away from home for Indigenous students and a site of information and support for the broader Queen's community? It is a hub of activity and welcomes and encourages everyone to drop in and learn about the supports and services available.

What FDASC does:

- Create a sense of shared experience by providing a safe space to share your ideas and experience
- Help you navigate your graduate degree through information sessions and workshops on topics that are relevant to you
- Encourage and coordinate networking with professors, research teams, funding resources and other students working on similar projects
- Provide cultural programming, workshops, feasts and ceremonies
- Host an annual Writers Retreat for Indigenous graduate students

Get involved:

Queen's Supporting Aboriginal Graduate Enhancement (SAGE) is an interdisciplinary and cross-institutional peer-mentoring program designed to support Aboriginal graduate students with the successful transition into and completion of their graduate programs. Through quarterly meetings Queen's SAGE hopes to:

- Connect Aboriginal graduate students and faculty across diverse academic programs for social and academic support.
- Provide a space for sharing resources.
- Create a safe, culturally relevant environment for students to share and discuss ideas, challenges and experiences.

Join FDASC for our SAGE (Supporting Aboriginal Graduate Enhancement) Meet & Greet!

Wednesday, September 26th
5-7pm at Four Directions Aboriginal Student Centre

The Queen's Native Student Association (QNSA) is an AMS ratified university club comprised of a diverse group of Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal students that share an interest in Aboriginal cultures and traditions. Undergraduates, graduates, and professional students are all represented in the QNSA. The QNSA functions as a forum for students to discuss contemporary and historic issues pertaining to Aboriginal peoples and cultures. QNSA works in collaboration with FDASC and Queen's Aboriginal Council to identify the needs of Aboriginal students on campus.

To learn more about Four Directions Aboriginal Student Centre:

Visit: 144 & 146 Barrie Street

Call: 613-533-6970

Email: 4direct@queensu.ca

Visit: www.queensu.ca/fdasc

Follow them on Facebook

Four Directions
Aboriginal Student Centre

Queen's University is situated on traditional Anishinaabe and Haudenosaunee Territory.