

Did You Know that the Society of Graduate and Professional Students (SGPS)...

Did you know that if you are a graduate, law, or consecutive education student, the SGPS is your student society? Your elected executive team and the staff at the SGPS office work for you.

Your student organization represents and advocates for you on all levels of university administration and lobbies the federal, provincial, and municipal governments on issues crucial to the wellbeing and success of graduate and professional students.

The executive, elected representatives, and volunteer committee members represent graduate and professional interests and participate in the governance of the University Senate, the Board of Trustees, the University Council, and over 40 university committees.

In response to the needs and concerns of our members, the SGPS also runs several services, including:

- Your health and dental plan
- Social activities during orientation week and throughout the year
- The Student Advisor Program
- A bursary program
- The AMS/SGPS Food Bank
- The International Student Identity Card (ISIC)
- And more!

To learn more about the SGPS

- Check out their website:
<https://sgps.ca>
- Follow them on facebook:
<https://www.facebook.com/queenssgps/>
- Visit them in the John Deutsch University Centre, room 021
- Or across social media
@QueensSGPS

